Before You Begin...

For best results, be sure to use the yarn recommended in the pattern, and purchase enough of one dye lot to complete your project. It is a good idea to retain ball bands in case of inquiry.

Check your knitting tension by making a test swatch and adjusting needle sizes, if necessary, to obtain the tension quoted in the pattern. Inaccurate tension results in a garment too large or too small. Even a variation of half a stitch makes an obvious difference in the finished size. Loose tension can result in the garment losing its shape during wear or laundering.

Read the instructions and underline all figures applying to your size. Sizes should be chosen from actual bust or chest measurements and not age or ready-to-wear sizes.

Note: Never put an iron directly on yarns containing synthetic fibres. If pressing is required before assembly, lay each piece right side down on a clean, flat surface and pin to size using rust proof pins. Cover with a damp cloth and leave to dry.

Washing Instructions

Patons Canadiana: Machine wash. Machine dry.

Machine Washing

Do up buttons and turn the garment inside out. Wash the garment, preferably on its own, with a gentle cycle, using lukewarm water and detergent. Softener may be added to the final rinse. Do not use bleach.

Machine Washing

Tumble dry at low setting. Do not overheat.

P2tog Decrease

Purl 2 stitches together through the front of both loops.

Raglan Decreases

A raglan decrease worked one or more stitches in from the edge of the work, like the raglan patterns in this book, is called a fully fashioned decrease.

The stitch on the outer edge will be worked in the raglan seam leaving a neat ridge visible on the right side of garment.

To Increase One Stitch

Pick up horizontal strand between 2 stitches onto left hand needle. Knit into the back of this strand, thus twisting the stitch and creating an invisible increase. This method, known commonly as Make 1 or M1, is best used when working increases in the final row of ribbing and at the sides of sleeves.

To increase evenly across the last row of ribbing divide the ribbing stitches number by the number of stitches to be increased plus one to section increase spaces evenly. For example, to increase 10 stitches evenly across the last row of ribbing containing 121 stitches, divide 121 by 11 ($10 + 1$) which equals 11. The increase row will be worked thus: *Rib across 11 stitches. M1. Repeat from * to last 11 stitches. Rib to end of row.

When the increase number does not divide evenly into the ribbing stitches number, divide the extra stitches evenly between the beginning and end of the row.

Work increases at the sides of sleeves as follows: K1. M1. Knit to last st. M1. K1. This leaves an edge stitch along the side of sleeve where the mattress seam is easily worked.

Finishing Techniques

Mattress Seam

Use this method for a seam joining 2 side edges, such as a side or sleeve seam. Work this seam with right side of garment facing. Using a blunt ended needle and garment yarn, insert needle under two rows at a time throughout working through a whole stitch at each edge. Always take the needle under the strands that correspond exactly to the opposite side and going into the hole that the last stitch of that side came out of. Keep your stitching fairly loose as you work, pulling the yarn firmly to tighten the stitches and bring the seam together approximately every 2 to 3 ins [5 to 8 cm]. This seam is often referred to as an invisible seam because when done correctly it is virtually undetectable.

Mattress Seam in 1x1 Ribbing

Use this method for a seam joining a side edge and a cast off edge, such as the top of a drop shoulder sleeve. Work this seam with right side of garment facing in a similar way as joining 2 side edges. Lay pieces side by side and pin together carefully easing cast off edge (if necessary) into side edge. Work mattress seam under one or two rows or stitches as necessary making sure the seam retains elasticity.

Work in a similar way as the regular mattress seam, but take only half a stitch on either edge into the seam. When the seam is drawn together one complete knit stitch is formed along the seam.

Picking Up Stitches Along a Side Edge

With right side of work facing, insert point of needle from front to back through one full stitch (behind 2 loops of stitch, not just the edge loop). There is alternately one long and one short stitch along a side edge. If you require fewer stitches than there are along this edge, always pick up through the short stitches and omit some of the long stitches.

Picking Up Stitches Along a Cast Off Edge

With right side of work facing, insert point of needle from front to back through both loops of cast off stitch.

Buttonholes

On a right side row, work in ribbing across required number of stitches. Cast off 2 stitches in ribbing, then rib to end of row.

On the next (wrong side) row, rib to the cast off stitches. Turn, Cast on 2 stitches noting that before the last cast on stitch is placed on the left hand needle, the yarn is brought to the front of work between the needle points to avoid a hole at the end of the buttonhole. Turn. Rib to end of row.

Grafted Seam

Use this seam when sewing together 2 cast off edges such as a shoulder seam. The seam matches the 2 edges stitch for stitch and creates a row of knitting which covers the cast off edges.

Sewing On Button and Buttonhole Bands

For a professional finish, take extra care when sewing on button and buttonhole bands. Work the button band first and sew it in position using the mattress seam. Do not ease the band in to fit front edge or the garment will not lie flat. If the band is long when slightly stretched, unravel the extra rows and re-pin to front edge. When button band is sewn in place, mark positions for buttons noting that an even number of rows are worked between each buttonhole. The buttonhole band will have the same number of rows as the button band with buttonholes worked in positions as marked. The ends of the bands are sewn together using a grafted seam at the centre back neck.

Drop Shoulder Garment

Before sewing sleeves to the body of garment, sew shoulder seams using a grafted seam. Fold sleeve in half lengthwise to mark centre of sleeve cast off edge. Match this to shoulder seam. Match markers indicated on front and back side edges to sides of sleeve. Sew sleeve to sides of body using a mattress seam. Sew sleeve and side seams of garment in a continuous line using a mattress seam.

Raglan Sleeve Garment

Sew raglan seams using a mattress seam taking extra care to match row for row from the sleeve to the body. The mattress seam will leave a neat edge where the raglan decreases were worked. Sew sleeve and side seams of garment in a continuous line using a mattress seam.

Set In Sleeve Garment

Before sewing sleeves to body of garment, sew shoulder seams using a grafted seam and side seams using a mattress seam. Sew sleeve seams using a mattress seam, then sew sleeve cap to armhole edge using a mattress seam and matching centre of sleeve cast off edge to shoulder seam. If necessary, ease sleeve into armhole. Do not stretch armhole to fit sleeve cap.

July 31.99 Ver's Sweater: The buttonband is too wide for the zipper application.  but for buttons it's great because one sets over top of the other. So I'm going to make 2 - 5 widths of the buttonband - K2 P1 K2

Aug 1.99 - Finally finished Ver's sweater nice!!

Besides making the back + 2 fronts longer, I also made the sleeves longer & may I caution not to - she's going to have them turned back until about grade 8.

Later in August: Took it apart. Cut down sleeves & made it fit nicely! Ready in time for camp.

TO DO NECKBAND: using crochet hook, feed wool through the very corner - kn once and leave a tail to sew on later. Put kn once thru loop wool around & bring thru center & stitch - repeat evenly along edge the required number of stitches.

this is perfect for zipper band.

When buying zipper - take sweater in & measure & then make sure by buying 2: 1 the right length & the next size up (Ver's was a little long enough and she is actually longer than it looks)
